Dear business Partners,

We hope that you and your families are staying safe and healthy in these difficult times.

We are firmly committed to supporting our customers and our communities through the unprecedented COVID-19 pandemic.

The health and safety of our employees, their families and our community are paramount to our company.

For this reason, we have adopted adequate health protocols, extended the remote work program to almost all employees, dialogued with customers and suppliers to ensure the continuation of project activities.

Additionally, we have recently launched a campaign extended to all employees operating in Italy, which offers the possibility to undergo the test for Covid-19 on a voluntary and free basis.

Thanks to the collaboration of our team, we have been able to minimize the impact that the outbreak might have on our day-to-day business operations.

Our workshop layout and schedule has been structured to assure social distancing and hygiene.

We have invested in our fan & compressor testing facility to improve our capabilities to perform tests from a remote location, allowing inspectors to witness the test activity without having to be present in our workshop.

During this difficult period, that inevitably saw a turnover reduction, we have invested in our internal research and development activities to be ready with more performing products when the global market returns to normal status.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to Boldrocchi HQ or our offices worldwide with any additional questions and concerns.

Sincerely,

Marco Bailo

Managing Director
